Washington, February 13.—At last the sensation which those on the inside here knew was coming, has broken. The name of the late President Harding has been dragged openly into the net of scandal which has been set by the Teapot Dome exposé.
In view of the talk which has been circulating here, it was inevitable that this development would come.

That his name will be cleared
everyone here regards as certain, and in that sense, some relief is felt by Harding's friends that a chance has been offered to refute the vicious scandal which has been whispered about Washington for weeks. Frank
A. Vandierp, former head of the National City bank, who has publicly referred to these rumors, has been subpoenaed by the senate investigating committee.

When he testifies Thursday, the name of Warren G. Harding will be cleared completely. Senator Walsh has heard these rumors for some time
but has scorned to drag the name of a dead president into the affair, even for the purpose of clearing it. But Vandierp directed attention to them
and the senate committee will now
make quick work of the unpleasant matter.

In his speech at Ossining, Vandierp
presented a garbled version of a tale which has grown up here in the past few weeks, and which has enlarged at each retelling.

This writer brought the matter to the attention of Mrs. Harding Wednesday and her instant request was that all details of the financial transactions involving the sale of The National City by the president last June be given to the public at once. At her request, Louis H. Brush, an old Ohio friend who bought The Star,
with his partner, Roy Moore, will issue a statement Thursday at Cleveland explaining the whole deal.

That statement will speak for itself, and it only remains to add that The Marion Star was paying between $50,000 and $60,000 a year when it was sold. This is on the authority of one of the men who assisted in drafting the contract of sale.

We know a fellow who has a short memory—his wife is a martinet. She tied a string on his finger the other afternoon to remind him of something to do for her next day.

Meantime, he forgot what it was all about—then he was afraid to go home.

She took advantage of him in the first place.
She should have tied that string early in the morning before he left home.

Why tell anybody yesterday afternoon something you want him to remember to do today?

Would you send a salesman out yesterday afternoon to remind the trade to be sure and come in and buy today?

Why not tell them first thing this morning if you really want to get what's coming to you?

These are the days of flying machines, radio and wireless. The fellow who has the "last say" is the one who "gets there."

Before five o'clock in the morning The Constitution is delivered by carrier into 32,000 city homes.

It is the "last word" before the people in Atlanta begin to make their plans for the day.

Bleeding Hearts Cauterized
Or Cupid's Darts Are Blunt

BY UNITED NEWS.
Chicago, February 13.—Valentine
day reveals that America is suffering from heart trouble this year, a retarded pulse.

Not since Elinor Glyn was a girl
have the shipments of heart shaped packages of gum drops, lollipops, and chewing tobacco been so scant, report
the Chicago postal authorities.

"Our young people are getting either too bashful or too sophisticated," commented Postmaster Arthur Lueder, who takes a professional as well as sentimental interest in such things.

Perhaps leap year is the reason.
Four years ago our leading belles
were in braids, and they don't know
now whether etiquette frowns upon sending the so-desirable male a heart-
shaped raspberry pie with an arrow of florice therein impaled. He might think it forward or impertinent.

Here at Chicago, Lueder explains,

is the cross roads of American romance. Valentines from the plains of Iowa and Texas to the boy who is making good in Wall street pass this way. Wistful rhymes from the New Englanders to his lass rapping at Hollywood portals, skid through Lueder's terminals.

Another strange phenomenon agitates Lueder's discoveries. A large number of Valentines in transit are observed carrying such legends as these:

"In five days return to . . ." The sheiks seem uncertain that their identity will be remembered.

All in all, Postmaster Lueder concludes that the ardent wooers this year are committed to a "watchful waiting" policy, trusting that the ladies will remember the year is di-visible by four.

"Get into action, ladies," he urges,
"these mathematical males are resting
on their oars this year."

FOUR ARE INJURED
IN AUTO CRASHES

Woman's Skull Fractured
and Three Others
Hurt in Series of Auto
Smashups Wednesday.

Mrs. F. C. Bennett, 222 West John
Calvin street, College Park, was probably fatally injured and three other persons, including two women, were hurt in automobile accidents last night.

Others injured are Mrs. N. A.
Brooks and her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Brooks, of 352 Whitehall street,
and B. G. Mitchell, of West Harris street.

Mrs. Bennett suffered a fractured skull and a broken arm and leg when struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. C. E. McCreary, 280 Stewart avenue, on Whitehall street near Whitehall Terrace.

Mrs. McCreary stopped immediately and took the injured woman to a local hospital,
where examinations showed injuries
from which it is feared she cannot recover.

Mrs. McCreary reported the case to police headquarters and a charge of reckless driving was brought against her. She was released when she furnished bond of $1,000.

She told police that she was traveling at a slow rate of speed when Mrs.
Bennett stepped into the street from the wrong side, evidently intending to board a street car. The car was not the one she wanted, and as she started toward the curb, stepped directly in the path of Mrs. McCreary's machine.

Louis Franklin, of 18 South Pryor, miraculously escaped serious injury
when he leaped from his automobile
as it was hit by an N. C. & St. L.
passenger train at the Pryor street
crossing.

M'ADOO MANAGERS
CALL CONFERENCE

David Rockwell Issues
Summons on Instructions of McAdoo—Includes "Independents."

BY UNITED NEWS.
Washington, February 13.—Supporters of William G. McAdoo, non-democratic progressives and representatives of farmer, labor and various liberal movements, have been invited to attend a conference at Chicago, on Monday, February 18, to decide upon McAdoo's availability as a presidential candidate.

This conference was called by McAdoo's manager, David L. Rockwell, acting upon his chief's suggestion following the political speculation set loose by the disclosure regarding the connection with E. L.
Doheny, the oil magnate, McAdoo's enemies said this disclosure eliminated him as a candidate. McAdoo now puts that question up to his own workers, and to a number of others
to decide and agree to abide by the result.

Show Independent Strength.
The significant fact is that Mc-Adoo's manager is extending the conference to include non-democratic progressives, and representatives of farmers, labor and liberal groups. By this twist, he hopes to corral a large following from outside the democratically party in order to demonstrate to the democrats at large that in Mc-Adoo they would have a candidate who could cut across party lines and poll a big independent vote—and the independent vote is the factor which determines presidential elections now.

The plan for the conference was set forth in a letter from Rockwell to McAdoo here.

"As chairman of the McAdoo movement, I recognize that the success of our efforts rest entirely upon the response of the people to your candidacy," Rockwell wrote.

Method Sure, Courageous.
"The basis of our movements has been at all times the desire of the people throughout the country for a president embodying the qualifications which you possess, and with your background of experience obtained in the administration of national affairs.
Naturally the people's demand for your candidacy is its sole justification
and hope."

"The means you propose for ascertaining whether the present partisan attacks upon you have in any degree lessened the demand for your candidacy is the surest method that can be devised."

"This is the most daring, direct and courageous step ever taken by any presidential candidate."

"I know, of course, that you are prepared to abide by the result, as I am myself, and as I am sure all the thousands of others who have enlisted voluntarily in this movement will do."

This was Corliss Hoover Griffith's
advice to all other would-be kidnappers
of the draft evader, imparted during his address at a banquet Wednesday night at which he was guest of honor.
"Hunched over his table in a little German cafe, with a guard on each

dict Arnold of today, a man without

Union Leaders and Op-

Jacksonville, Fla., February 13.—
Fate, in the garb of economic necessity, has set its face against thousands of soft coal miners in America. Nothing the wage conference of miners and operators can do in their meeting here can save them from elimination from the industry, nor save hundreds of mines and little mining hamlets over the country from gradual dissolution.

This verdict was sounded here tonight by leaders of both operators and miners, but none would permit their names to be used. Their deep regrets were voiced as they told of the hopelessness of the situation and pictured the 200,000 or more excess bituminous
miners and the little homesteads,
dotting many mining fields whose active days are numbered.

"Elimination has commenced," a spokesman for the operators said,
"and will stop only when economic conditions require. There are 700 bituminous shipping mines in the country. About half of them must go,
and with them more than 200,000 miners. Every delay in reaching an agreement will stave off the elimination, but only for a time. There is no escape from it."

Spar for Position.
This was the spirit evidenced by miners' and operators' leaders as they emerged from today's session of the sub-committee, entrusted with the drafting of a wage proposal for the central competitive field. The session was spent largely in "sparing for position."

A great diversity of opinion, it was said, was voiced by operators, and for sake of argument, a formal proposal was made
that the miners amend their demands
and ask a one-year contract, instead of one for four years.

Miners countered by repeating that they were persuaded the signing of a four-year contract would be a great step in restoring industrial stability in the country. Objection from the other side of the table was that it was doubtful that a four-year contract at the highest wage the miners ever had would be permanently stabilizing. It was suggested by one operator that such a move would be for stability
if the miners would take a reduction,
something, for instance, like the wage scale of 1917.

Against Referring Back.
There was no serious support for this suggestion. Then the miners requested that this joint conference go on record a "referring back" all internal differences and conditions to

When Barbara Takes Stand

Los Angeles, Cal., February 13.—
Barbara La Marr, film actress, wept
so steadily on the witness stand today
in the trial of Herman Roth, charged with attempting to extort money from Arthur H. Sawyer, Miss La Marr's manager, that court was adjourned to give the actress time to regain her composure.

When asked to identify the amended complaint, which has become the center-piece of the case and which named Roscoe Arbuckle and six others
as co-respondents in N. Bernard Deely's action to divorce her, the witness dabbed at her eyes with a black handkerchief and told the court she could not read the document through her tears. It was then court took a brief recess.

The amended complaint, which Deely repudiated recently from the witness stand, is cited by the prosecution as the one Roth declared he intended to file when he approached the stand.

BY WILL IRWIN

When toward the end of July, 1922,
Colonel Forbes, of the veterans' bureau, returned to Washington from his joyful junket on the Pacific coast,
he found a delicate complication awaiting his attention. As I have already told, J. W. Thompson and J.
W. Black, chief owners of several great construction companies, had employed Colonel Forbes' charm and boon companion, Elias H. Mortimer, as agent and salesman.

Under the terms of the Langley
bill, the veterans' bureau was building
and equipping $17,000,000 worth of new hospitals for the wrecks of the world war. Thompson and Black wanted, quite naturally, a share of this business.

Mortimer's job implied "sticking close to Forbes."

And not only Mortimer's direct testimony but many letters and telegrams in possession of the government
indicate that Mortimer was passing to his employers advance information
from the inner councils of the veterans' bureau. Long before competitors and the public in general knew where these hospitals were to be built, Forbes had given to Mortimer, for Thompson and Black, a list of the eastern sites. Mortimer and his employers motored to these sites, looked them over. As a business process.

Advantages of Demo-

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, February 13.—Democrats of the house bound themselves
tonight by a party caucus vote to stand as a unit for the tax revision
program proposed by Representative Garner, democrat, Texas, as a substitute for the Mellon plan. The revenue bill carrying the income tax rates proposed by Secretary Mellon will be taken up in the house tomorrow under general debate.

The action of the democrats means that if the 435 members of the house
vote on the income tax rates section of the bill, at least 206, twelve less than a majority, will be cast for the Garner plan providing for a 50 per cent cut in normal taxes and a maximum surtax rate of 44 per cent applying to incomes of $92,000 and over.

Caucus Vote Binding.

Of 168 democrats at the caucus 164 approved the action to bind the members. Rules of the membership provide that if two-thirds of the party
membership approves of such an action it will be binding on the entire party unless a member shows that he had made a pledge to his constituents
prior to election which would be violated by carrying out the party edict.
Representative Deal, of Virginia,
was the only member excused on this ground. Seven others were granted permission to vote for any amendments to the revenue bill which would provide for higher surtax rates than the Garner plan, but if these were not accepted they were bound then
to support the democratic program.

The Mellon income tax rates placed in the bill in committee provide for a 25 per cent cut in the normal taxes
and for a maximum surtax rate of 25 per cent.

Harvey Tatum, 4, is believed to be dying, and his cousin, Virginia Thompson, 6, is in a local hospital suffering from serious bruises and lacerations
as the result of being attacked
Wednesday afternoon by a large number of infuriated hogs on the experiment farm of H. G. Hastings & Co.,
four miles south of Jonesboro.

The little boy was practically scalped, and one ear was torn completely off. Attending physicians hold little hope for his recovery. The young girl, the daughter of T. P.
Thompson, foreman of the farm, is not as badly hurt as was at first thought, and unless complications
arise, it is stated, she will recover.
She was cut about the face and head,
but was rescued before being badly hurt.

The youngsters were playing in a pasture when attacked, and it is thought that they would both have been killed had not their screams attracted assistance of workmen in a nearby field.

The reason for the attack could not be learned. As far as is known the children had just entered the pasture
and had done nothing to irritate the animals. Mr. Thompson stated that hogs, however, are naturally savage,
and have been known to attack men
when angered.

The boy had visited the farm with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A.
Tatum, of 173 Alexander street, who went there to spend the day with the Thompsons. The two children had been absent from the house for only a few minutes when they ventured into the pasture.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, February 13.—Developments in the oil scandal tumbled
over each other so rapidly today and went so far afield that when night
came the national capital had not recovered from the shock.

President Harding's name and the circumstances surrounding the sale
of his newspaper, the Marion Star, were brought in by Frank A. Vanderlip, New York banker, who promptly was subpoenaed by the oil
committee to appear tomorrow morning and tell what he may know.

Bainbridge Colby, a former secretary of state and at one time law partner of President Wilson for a brief period, was mentioned in information brought to the committee
in connection with the vast array of lawyers retained by various oil interests.

President Coolidge, informed by republican senators that neither Silas
H. Strawn nor Atlee Pomerene could be confirmed as special government
counsel in the oil leases, made preparations to withdraw their nominations.

Probe All Foreign Oil Deals.

James R. Garfield, secretary of the interior under President Roosevelt, was considered for appointment as one of the government attorneys, but investigation showed that Mr. Garfield's firm had had legal connection with the Doherty interests in Mexico.

With a record vote the senate
adopted a resolution by Senator Dill,
democrat, Washington, of the oil committee, calling on the state department for all diplomatic correspondence relating to the Colombian treaty,
ratified by the senate after Secretary
Fall had urged that it was necessary to protect American oil interests in Colombia.

Then the senate adopted another resolution by Senator Hill calling for similar correspondence with Great Britain and eight other countries relating to oil concessions.

Ground work for a sweeping inves-

scandal and other matters, was laid in a resolution presented by Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana.

Steps were taken by the oil com-

morrow, Oscar Sutor, counsel for the

Adding on the Fall oil lease because they considered the leasing policy to be without authority in law.

A subpoena was issued for Karl C. Schuyler, a Denver attorney, to produce correspondence relating to the spot dome which was described to the committee as sensational.

J. Leo Stock, a Denver oil operator, followed up previous testimony of an understanding between Harry Sinclair and Standard Oil interests by testifying that he had been informed a week beforehand by officials of the Pioneer Oil company that Sinclair would get Teapot Dome.

Robinson Replies to Coolidge.

Replying on the senate floor to President Coolidge's statement on Secretary Denby, Democratic Leader Robinson declared that eventually the president would have to put out of his administration all of those connected with the Fall leasing program.

Senators pressed for more definite information that both Secretary Denby and Attorney General Daugherty soon would retire from the cabinet, but there were no outward developments either at the white house or the navy or justice departments to indicate that the resignation of either was impending.

The injection of President Harding's name into the oil middle created a sensation of scarcely less magnitude than did E. L. Doheny's unexpected testimony of two weeks ago that he had made an unpaid loan of $100,000 to Albert B. Fall.

Vanderlip Stirrs Washington.

News of the speech delivered by Mr. Vanderlip last night at Ossining, N. Y., asking for investigation of the source of the $500,000 paid to Mr. Harding for the Marine plot just before his death travelled like wild fire through the senate cloak rooms and throughout official Washington.

There were hurried conferences between Chairman Lenroot and other members of the oil committee with an apparently unanimous agreement that Mr. Vanderlip should be summoned immediately. An air of almost feverish tension pervaded the senate chamber and spread throughout the administration.

Senators gathered in groups on the floor, in the cloak rooms and the marble room discussing the latest shift in the storm of charges and suspicions enveloping the cabinet.

Until they saw the actual dispatches on the Vanderlip speech they were too astounded to comprehend that a man of Mr. Vanderlip's recognized standing had publicly challenged an investigation into the financial affairs of Warren Harding.

Forces Full Probe.

On all sides it was agreed that the publication of such grave charges made it more imperative than ever that the oil investigation should be pursued to the fullest possible limit irrespective of where it might lead. Some senators pointed out that suspicion had become so widespread that no one could consider himself immune from it, making it essential that the public interest that the guilty should be separated from the innocent as speedily as possible.

Recalling that some of the rumors have revolved about senators without undertaking to name them, one senator declared that this made it all the more the duty of the senate to clear up all the charges and rumors to the very bottom.

It was scarcely an hour after the utterances of Mr. Vanderlip had been confirmed before Chairman Lenroot had affixed his signature to a subpoena for the New York banker.

Avoiding the slow process of formal service, Senator Lenroot had the sergeant-at-arms communicate by telephone with Mr. Vanderlip who expressed readiness to appear before the committee tomorrow morning.

To Grill Banker Hard.

The New York financier will be questioned not only with reference to his statements about the sale of the Marion Star but also about his charge that the oil committee did not go further in investigating Fall because the former secretary was ready to "peach" and what he would have said would have gone into "high places."

E. L. Doheny may be recalled by the committee in connection with reports reaching it during the day and bringing the name of former Secretary Colby into the list of former governmental officials which Doheny employed or sought to employ. The committee has under consideration a suggestion that Mr. Doheny be asked whether he ever attempted to retain Mr. Colby as counsel, and if he did so.

Information brought to committee-men was that the California oil magnate tried unsuccessfully to employ Mr. Colby as a large fee just about the time Woodrow Wilson withdrew from the law firm of Wilson & Colby and the firm was dissolved. If any decision had been reached tonight Mr. Lenroot would not reveal it.

Tried to Hire Senators.

Committeemen also heard reports that Mr. Doheny had employed or sought to employ former members of the senate. If he is recalled he will be asked as to these also.

Until it was overshadowed by these unexpected additions to the list of probable committee witnesses, the latest upset in President Coolidge's plans for employment of special counsel to prosecute the oil cases had been a subject of the first moment both at the capitol and in administration circles.

Upon returning here from New York early this morning, Mr. Coolidge learned that neither Mr. Straw nor Mr. Pomeroy would be acceptable to the senate. In fact, he was told by republican leaders that neither could obtain a favorable vote even in the oil committee which has been considering their nominations for some days.

Seeks Other Counsel.

Immediately after breakfast he conferred with Chairman Lenroot and Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the assistant republican leader, and later began a new canvass of the field for available counsel. He called Mr. Garfield into consultation, but it was apparent afterwards that his appointment was unlikely in view of the past connection of his law firm with the Doheny interests in Mexico.

President Coolidge has been advised of the conviction of many senators that he should select as government counsel one outstanding criminal prosecutor and one prominent civil lawyer with a wide knowledge of public land laws. In the view of a majority of the oil committee the two men selected do not fill these specifications and the president is said to feel that he should save them the embarrassment of rejection by himself withdrawing their nominations before the committee makes its report.

The oil committee will have still another duty thrust upon it should the senate decide that an inquiry is necessary on the basis of the state department information received from foreign oil concessions asked for in the Dill resolutions adopted today. Senator Dill desires particularly to inquire into former Secretary Fall's activities in connection with the Colombian treaty.

Treaty Failed Under Wilson.

This treaty was negotiated by Secretary Bryan, but it failed of ratification until early in the Harding administration when Mr. Fall urged his former colleagues in the senate to vote its approval. One of the arguments he advanced was that favorable action would be in the interest of American oil companies seeking to develop fields in northern South America.

At its session today the only witness heard by the oil committee was Mr. Stock, who related further details of the agreement by which Harry F. Sinclair paid $250,000 to Stock and Frederick G. Bonfils, publisher of The Denver (Colo.) Post, and agreed to pay $750,000. Karl C. Schuyler, as counsel for Stock, attended the conference at which Sinclair signed the contract of agreement, according to Stock's statement to the committee.

Before this evidence was given Mr. Schuyler had telegraphed the committee asking to be heard and stating that he had certain correspondence which he believed the committee should see. At the same time the committee received a telegram from D. F. Stackelback, of The Denver Post, saying he had reason to believe that the correspondence in Schuyler's possession was "sensational."

Feature Insurance Offers

Efficiency and economy—an ideal combination.

It applies with special emphasis to the two types of insurance being offered its readers by The Constitution, the $500 Group Reader Life Insurance opportunity and the $1,000 Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance plan.

Hundreds of readers have already been issued $500 Group Reader Life Insurance policies for 15 or 20 cents per week depending upon the type of protection desired. This sensational life insurance, the only life insurance offered by an Atlanta newspaper, is vouchered for by The Constitution.

Under the terms of the offer, this life insurance is placed within the means of every man and woman in the south, and those who are wise are hastening to take advantage of it.

Delay has proved fatal in hundreds of cases in the past. What you plan to do "tomorrow" may never come to pass.

Do your clear-cut duty to those dependent upon you for the necessities of life without loss of time. Now is the time.

The $1,000 Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance offer provides for $1,000 in case of death from certain accidents; varying sums for injuries and $10 weekly indemnity in case of disability—all for $1 per year in addition to the annual subscription price of The Daily and Sunday Constitution. And it might be well to add that the accident insurance policy offered by The Constitution is the only one offered by an Atlanta newspaper which includes the "exclusion" clause providing for payment of $10 per week for disability.

Full particulars of both these insurance offers will be promptly supplied upon application to The Constitution's insurance department.

House Is Urged

By Hughes To Kill

Jap Exclusion Bill

Washington, February 13.—An appeal to congress not to enact legislation which would exclude Japanese from the United States has been made by Secretary of State Hughes following representations to the state department by the Japanese government.

Hughes wrote a letter to Chairman Johnson, of the house immigration committee strongly protesting against the provision in the pending immigration bill regarding Japanese exclusion.

"There can be no question that such statutory exclusion will be deeply resented by the Japanese people," Hughes declared, adding that strong representations already have been made by the Japanese ambassador here concerning exclusion of his people.

"I regret to be compelled to say," Hughes added, "that I believe such legislative action would largely undo the work of the Washington conference on limitation of armaments which so greatly improved relations with Japan."

PHARAOH'S CURSE

GETS BUSY AGAIN

Luxor, Egypt, February 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—The crisis which broke with dramatic suddenness today between Howard Carter and the Egyptian government and resulted in the closing of Tutankhamen's tomb undoubtedly had its origin in a contract signed by the late Lord Carnarvon securing the sole rights of descriptive articles and pictures of the discoveries in the tomb to a London newspaper.

The Egyptian government, which maintains its rights over the tomb, is incontestable, has been seriously embarrassed by requests from American and British newspapers in behalf of their correspondents at Luxor for facilities in describing the discoveries, facilities which the excavators have declined to grant, relying upon the so-called copyright clause in the contract.

Consequently between the excavators, jealous of their newspaper contract, and the government, jealous of its rights, there has been a whole series of bickering mainly on this question of visitors which, however, did not find serious expression until today.

Pending a solution of the difficulty, watchmen of the department of antiquities will take over the immediate guardianship of the tomb from Mr. Carter's native foreman. If no solution is found there are indications that the Egyptian government will take over the tomb and have the work of exploration completed by the department of antiquities.

Committee Acts

To Inaugurate

Accident Bureau

All motorcycle officers were placed under command of Captain M. V. Barnett, traffic bureau head, as a step toward inauguration of the accident prevention bureau of the police department, by the police committee of council in regular session Wednesday night.

New traffic towers at the corners of Whitehall and Mitchell, Madison and Mitchell, Spring and Marietta streets were authorized to enable control of Spring street viaduct traffic which has been threatening congestion, especially on Mitchell and Madison.

The committee voted to grant a 20-day vacation to each member of the department who has served a year or more. This is the same period granted last year for vacations.

The bureau of identification was increased by one man, William G. Short, who will act as photographer and finger print operator.

Alderman Jesse W. Armistead, member of the committee, stated that he would introduce an ordinance in council Monday to fix operations of the accident prevention bureau along the same lines as those in large cities of the north and where traffic control is separated from other branches of police activity.

TEAPOT SCANDAL

CAUSES CLAMOR

OF FEAR IN ITALY

Rome, February 13.—The echo of America's Teapot Dome scandal has sounded clear to Italy.

Following disclosures in Washington, which have been published here, a section of the press is demanding now that the government publish the full text of the convention by which Italy grants Harry F. Sinclair's company a monopoly in the survey and exploitation of Italian oil resources.

Thus far, the agreement with the Sinclair company has been kept secret.

GENEVA PLANS HONOR FOR WILSON MEMORY

Geneva, February 13.—Europe is once more naming its streets after Woodrow Wilson.

The Geneva city council has proposed to rename the Quai du Mont Blanc as the "Quai Wilson."

The buildings of the league of nations are situated on the Quai du Mont Blanc, and the step is proposed as a recognition of Woodrow Wilson's choice of Geneva as the seat of the league of nations.

An Amazing Fact

To many people it may seem incredible that a habit so common as coffee-drinking can be harmful. Yet if your doctor were to enumerate the common causes of indigestion, headache, and run-down condition, he would be likely to mention coffee.

If you are troubled with insomnia, nervousness, or are inclined to be high-strung, try Postum in place of coffee for thirty days, and note the difference in the way you feel, and how much better you sleep.

Postum is a pure cereal beverage, absolutely free from caffeine, or any harmful drug.

"There's a Reason"

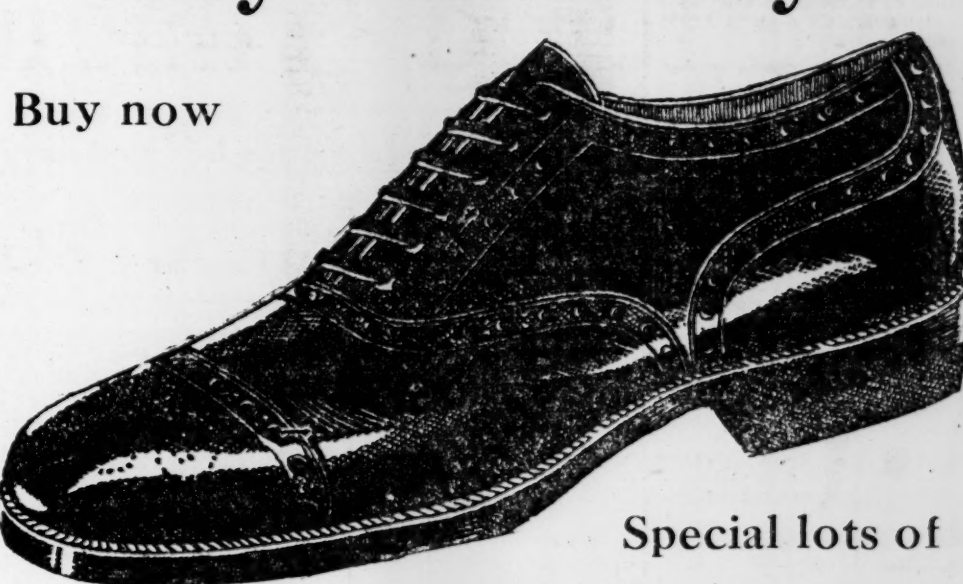

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum [which] prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal [in packages] for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

Planning Your Service

EXPERIENCED telephone engineers plan the telephone buildings, switchboards, subways and cable systems so that they may be readily and economically adapted to meet the present and future necessary extensions and developments of your service.

Today they are planning the service you are to receive next year, the year after and even five years from now.

The service you have today was planned years ago and as the demands grew and the conditions changed, your telephone plant was adjusted to meet the growth.

Telephone service cannot be engineered today and delivered tomorrow. Construction plans are based on careful studies of each locality by men especially trained in this work.

The telephone engineers are men of vision. But they are practical men and it is due to their knowledge and skill that your necessary requirements for service have been met so well.

The telephone system in this city and state, under their guidance and in conformity with their plans, has grown from the few telephones of a few years ago to the splendid plant of today.

The telephone has been developed by their genius, from a mere toy to a vast business requiring an investment of more than a billion dollars.

$1,806 interest from a $1,000 bond

One thousand dollars invested in a 15-year Miller First Mortgage Bond, paying 7%, will bring you a total of $1,806 in interest—$35 in cash every six months for 15 years.

COMMERCE OFFICIAL ARRIVES HERE TODAY

Edward F. Feely, American commercial attaché to Argentina, will reach Atlanta at 11 o'clock this morning for a two-day visit here under auspices of the district office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

Mr. Feely will be greeted upon his arrival by Buist C. Getsinger, district manager, and Harry O. Mitchell, commercial agent, of the district office. During his stay he will make his headquarters at the district office in the postoffice building.

At noon Friday Mr. Feely will address the Cuban club at its weekly luncheon. This will be followed by a banquet of the Atlanta Foreign Trade club at 6 o'clock, at which Mr. Feely will deliver the principal address. Many prominent exporters and other business men have been invited. Co-operating with the foreign trade club in arranging the event are the chamber of commerce and the Atlanta Association of Credit Men.

Conferences Planned.

During Thursday afternoon and Friday, Mr. Feely will be available to business men for conferences on various phases of Latin-American trade conditions.

"Reports of the federal department of commerce indicate that the trade of the United States with Latin America during 1923 increased over that of 1922 by 25 per cent in exports and 29 per cent in imports," district officials stated. Nearly $700,000 represented exports from the United States, showing an increase of 113 per cent over the pre-war period of 1913-14.

"Some of our more important purchases in Latin America in 1923 were: Hides and skins from Argentina, valued at $30,000,000; sugar from Cuba at $20,000,000; nitrates and copper from Chile valued at $51,000,000. We paid Brazil $116,000,000 for coffee, Ecuador over $4,000,000 for cacao, Mexico upwards of $50,000,000 for petroleum.

Georgians Interested.

"Of special interest to Georgians, particularly in line with the 'hog, cow and hen' program, which is so actively under way throughout the state, are the following figures covering our exports to Latin America during 1923 of products in which Georgia either figures largely or in which her farmers and manufacturers have a profound interest: Bacon, hams and pickled pork, $6,746,535; eggs, $4,744,555; butter, $1,034,042; cheese, $916,192; lard and lard compounds, $20,902,610; condensed and evaporated milk, $5,417,543; cottonseed oil, $2,017,305; corn syrup, $314,291; fish, $333,373; tobacco, $1,585,072; cotton, $1,653,115; naval stores, $3,449,563; cotton cloth, $38,701,522; cotton yarn, $19,163,512; cotton hosiery, $6,937,691.

"The increasing interest of the country at large is shown in the successful flotation in the United States of South American securities aggregating over $130,000,000 in value during the year just past and an additional $60,000,000 during January of 1924. Of this latter sum, $48,490,000 represented loans to Argentina, indicating the restored confidence of our people in that country."

SECOND APPLICATION FOR BAIL IS DENIED

Mobile, Ala., February 13.—The application of Thomas W. Cleveland, charged with the murder of Stephen Lossing, for bail heard today in the circuit court was denied by Judge Ben D. Turner. It was the second application made by the defendant for bail and the court held that as a previous one had been refused it was without jurisdiction. Cleveland had been tried three times for the alleged killing of Lossing and mistrials resulted each time. The state contended that a second application under the law would not apply and the court sustained the contention.

Why suffer from Rheumatism?

THERE is a certain unexplainable feeling that goes with a hale and hearty old age—it is a feeling of happiness, of care unknown, of reborn youth.

But rheumatism—that deadly malady which has caused so many to surrender to the woes of pain and suffering—caused so many to forego the pleasures of life—caused so many to be dependent. Why suffer from it?

To be helped about—crutches, canes and willing hands always needed to assist you here and help you there. Rheumatism will vanish the same as skin disorders—the same as sallow complexion—the same as that run-down condition when S. S. S. is used. S. S. S. builds red blood cells by the score. CLAIM DIVISION IS ESTABLISHED BY VETS' BUREAU

Washington, February 13.—Creation of a division of information and co-operation in the control office of the Veterans' bureau, with Major B. R. Patton as chief, to assist former service men in presenting their claims, was announced today by Director Hines. The new division, it was said, will "act primarily as a speeding up point for claimants who are pressing their cases in the bureau."

DEMOCRAT CAUCUS BINDS 206 VOTES

Consent will be asked when the bill is brought up tomorrow to close general debate at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Consent will then be asked to take up Tuesday the income tax revision, over which the controversy at the measure is centered. Leaders predicted this section can be disposed of within two days.

In connection with the minority decision for a united stand against the Mellon rates, republican insurgents have indicated they would vote for the plan of Representative Frear, of Wisconsin, republican insurgent member of the ways and means committee, proposing to leave the surtax unchanged and reduce the normal rates 30 per cent. There were 17 votes cast by the insurgent group against Speaker Gillett in the house organization contest.

Target in Senate, Too.

The Mellon tax plan was the target of democracy in the senate today also. Senator Hailston, of Indiana, in his maiden speech, declared for exempting from the income tax all persons having incomes of less than $5,000—a step further than proposed in the Garner plan. Senator Harris, of Georgia, upheld the Garner plan, citing its advantages for the small income taxpayer through the increased exemptions allowed.

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, joined in the debate to suggest that "the senate investigate and report into the national poll being conducted by the Literary Digest on the Mellon tax plan. He described the poll as "fraudulent propaganda." The ways and means committee disposed of all preliminaries to consideration of the bill on the floor of the house at a hearing earlier in the day at which Joseph McCoy, treasury secretary, presented again estimates on the probable effect on government revenue of the proposed tax revision plan.

Bonus Must Wait.

The bonus bill again was discussed by the ways and means committee today but Chairman Green said it was the almost unanimous opinion of the committee that consideration of this legislation would have to await disposal of the revenue measure in the house. Mr. Green predicted that if the proposals as to consideration of the revenue bill were agreed to, it can be passed within two weeks. Some legislation he said, will be taken up immediately by the committee, he said.

Later reference to The Literary Digest poll also was made by Senators Hailston and Harris, declaring that it had conveyed an impression that a vote against the Mellon plan was a vote against "any reduction of taxes."

Senator McKellar, democrat of Tennessee, declared that "in effect the Literary Digest is perpetrating a fraud on the American people."

TAX BILL GOUGES SMALL EARNERS.

Washington, February 13.—Failure of the Mellon tax plan to "increase personal exemption credits" was cited today by Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, as the principal objection to that measure held by many democrats. The bill proposed by the house majority would have gone further toward removing taxation from small earned incomes, he said, and thus would have benefited millions "instead of a few millionaires."

"I think I can assure those who own and operate farms," Senator Harris said, "that the farm bloc, of which I am a member, will permit no measure to become law which makes such an unjust discrimination against them."

"The secretary of the treasury says the democratic plan is 'political and nothing else.' We answer, his plan is for the rich and no one else."

Amendment Perverted.

"Proponents of the 16th amendment never dreamed," the Georgia senator asserted, "that it would be perverted as to thrust the hands of the tax gatherer into the pockets of the taxpayer."

laborer, farmer and small business man and take from them the necessities of life. The rich are the beneficiaries of the burden."

"Under the present law," he continued, "no distinction is made between incomes derived from stocks and bonds."

Workers Entitled to Cut. "I have always contended that men who work for their living are entitled to more consideration in the matter of taxation than those who receive their incomes with no exertion other than clipping coupons; and as early as October, 1921, I introduced an amendment to the revenue bill reducing the normal tax on earned incomes from 4 per cent to 2 per cent for amounts not over $1,000, and from 8 per cent to 4 per cent for greater amounts or just one-half the present tax rate. There is no doubt that this amendment would have passed the senate and become law, but for the opposition of the secretary of the treasury, Mr. Mellon, who stated to the then chairman of the finance committee, Mr. E. A. Tamm, that the plan to make a distinction between earned and unearned incomes was not workable."

Excludes Tradesmen. "Now, two years later, this same secretary of the treasury has adopted my plan bodily, except that his reduction on earned incomes is only 25 per cent, or just half what I proposed. He has limited earned incomes to those derived from wages, salaries and professional services, thus excluding farmers, merchants and other tradesmen."

"It is not hard to find the reason for this change of front on the part of the secretary of the treasury when one considers the number of those senators, all republicans, who opposed my amendment in October, 1921. Of the 36 that voted against my amendment, 11 are no longer members of the senate. The 25 who remain are largely of the farm and laborer, and others of small means, is largely, if not wholly, responsible for the defeat of several of these."

"It is also significant that all of those senators who voted in favor of my amendment are here today except two."

RALSTON SUGGESTS $3,000 EXEMPTION.

Washington, February 13.—Making his first speech in the senate, Senator Ralston, democrat, Indiana, today suggested that all incomes under $3,000 be exempt from income tax levies. The present system, he said, is a heavy indirect burden on small incomes for the benefit of a favored class. He cited the tariff law and railroad legislation as examples of this tendency.

Quoting official records to show a decrease of more than 500,000 in the number of income tax returns in 1921, the Indiana senator asserted "there is no other symptom of ill in the body politic that should receive more careful attention."

"I believe that the people are beginning to realize the nature of this injustice and to rise in protest against it. The evidence is before us in the persons of a dozen senators who owe their seats to this popular awakening. The voters who elected them want a reduction of taxation, but they are not the people who have been writing to you in favor of the reduction of income taxes."

ing flagman and started across the tracks. When halfway to the other side the engine of the locomotive stalled and he jumped from the car in time to escape the crash of the oncoming train. Frankie was unhurt, but his auto was smashed.

Mitchell, Mrs. Brooks and her daughter were hurt last night when the machine in which they were riding collided with a car driven by an unidentified white man who left before call officers arrived. NAME OF HARDING WILL BE CLEARED

Mr. Harding told the writer in December, 1920, that The Star that year earned him $49,000 clear profit and that it was the best investment he had ever made. For a property paying this return, the purchase price of $480,000 seems reasonable, according to the usual method of calculation.

The story which Vandenberg heard and repeated publicly was based on the assumption that Harding received for The Star $200,000 more than it was really worth. It was said that the surplus represented money which was being conveyed to Harding secretly under cover of the newspaper deal. The fantastic part of the story was that Harding had lost $200,000 through speculation in oil stocks—through Sinclair stocks—and that his friends upon whose advice he had speculated were taking this means to reimburse him. The whole story collapses when it is observed that the purchase price of The Star is proportionate to its earnings.

That such stories could circulate and that a well-known financier like Vandenberg should discuss them publicly, only reveals the state of suspicion and cynicism which the Teapot Dome scandal has brought out. A form of hysteria has developed in Washington. Those supposed to have inside information about the affair are besieged with questions of the most banal nature. The state of mind here is comparable to that during the war when rumors that certain prominent men had been interned as spies were circulated every few days—while the men in question were moving about publicly here.

It is this situation which President Coolidge had in mind when, in his New Year speech, he asked that the public not give way to cynicism. He knew of the way in which spotless reputations are being carelessly tossed aside on the wings of ignorant gossip and is trying to stop such irresponsible talk.

Meanwhile senators interested in the success of the oil lease investigation are becoming worried lest attention be diverted from the real issues and the real scene of trouble.

Certain facts have been established and it is upon these that these senators now wish to press for results.

"I CAN'T PROVE CHARGES," VANDERLIP.

New York, February 13.—Frank A. Vandenberg, financier and former president of the National City bank, who in an address at Ossining last night criticized the sale of "a certain Marine newspaper" and arraigned public officials in connection with "flagrant national scandals," announced he would leave for Washington at midnight tonight.

He declared he had received a request by telephone from the sergeant-at-arms of the senate to appear before the senate committee which is investigating the Teapot Dome oil leases.

Mr. Vandenberg attended dinner given tonight at the University club by Thomas C. Desmond and William M. Chadbourne, former members of the war-time vigilante organization. He asserted that if he were called before the senate committee he would not be able to furnish definite proof of his statements of last night. "All I can tell them is what I have said," he added.

BRUSH SAYS PRICE OF STAR REASONABLE.

Cleveland, Ohio, February 13.—The implications of irregularities in the sale of The Marion Star by President Harding to Louis H. Brush and Roy D. Moore, made by Frank A. Vandenberg, New York financier, in a speech at Ossining, N. Y., last night, brought a sharp denial from Mr. Brush tonight.

Brush is president of the Harding Publishing company, in addition to owning several other newspapers in Ohio and had been a life-long personal friend of the late president. His statement follows:

"Mr. Vandenberg's attempt to implicate the late President Harding and the new owners of The Marion Star, through the sale of that newspaper to Roy D. Moore and myself is incessantly false. His statements were so venomous that it is impossible for me to soften their effect by claiming a desire to protect Mr. Harding's memory by forcing an investigation. When he appears before the senate committee tomorrow, which I presume is a result of my request that he be called, Mr. Vandenberg will explain that his speech was based on rumors and admit that he had made no effort to confirm them before shooting them broadcast through the press of the country without regard to the harm he might be doing to the late president's reputation and to Mr. Moore and myself in our business careers."

Facts Easily Obtained.

"Mr. Vandenberg asks 'Where did the money come from? Where did it go?' Every dollar of it came from my own pockets, some of it borrowed, it is true, but with the customary security of the money went to Mr. Harding and the minority stockholders, and Mr. Harding's share is now a part of his estate. Practically all of these facts have been and are now available in the Marion county probate court through the executor of the Harding estate or at the offices of The Marion Star for the benefit of Mr. Vandenberg, the senate committee or anyone else."

"No authorized statement has ever been made by me as to the actual purchase price of the Star, although repeatedly exaggerated figures have been published. But since a man of Mr. Vandenberg's standing comes out boldly and tells the world that we have 'no financial standing' hitting us in an apparent effort to throw mud at the Harding administration in general, we are willing to parade our private business affairs on the ground that there is a public interest and official demand for the details."

Price Was $380,000.

The actual purchase price of the Marion Star, including every share of stock, was $380,000. The contract with President Harding was signed at the white house two days before he left for Alaska upon the payment by him of $50,000 in cash. The contract provided that other payments and details of the transaction should be cleared up on his return from Alaska, for which purpose he had planned to stop at Marion.

"Of the $380,000, Mr. Harding was to receive $203,000, the remainder of stock then being held by Star employees. We were to pay the president $167,000 in cash, including the $50,000 paid to him in Washington, to turn over to him preferred stock in the reorganized Harding Publishing company amounting to $100,000. In addition the president was to sign a contract of employment with the Star as associate editor at a salary of $13,300 per year. This arrangement constituted a compromise on the price, and as a result of our profit from the syndication of his writing at a comparatively small salary, the payment of the salary was guaranteed for ten years."

Earnings Averaged 10 Per Cent.

"The earnings of the Star over a period of several years averaged a return of 10 per cent on the full purchase price. These facts are given to show that Mr. Vandenberg does not know any more about the value of the Marion Star than he does about the men whose financial standing has been assailed or the price paid for the Star."

"The important position Mr. Vandenberg occupies in the financial world, his former connection with the biggest banking interests and the flat, unqualified and unjustified charges he made constitute the worst and most damaging kind of slander. Mr. Moore and I have notified Senator Lenroot, chairman of the investigating committee, that we will be in Washington tomorrow ready to give his committee any information it may want. Unless Mr. Vandenberg falls absolutely flat before the committee, I should like the privilege of appearing before it. I predict, however, that the whole thing will be thrown out in disgust."

STAR WAS BARGAIN

EVEN AT $550,000.

Marion, O., February 13.—Frank

A. Vandenberg has made himself "utterly ridiculous" in questioning the integrity of the sale of the Marion Star by the late President, Harding, according to Roy D. Moore, one of the purchasers and now general manager of the paper. Moore declared that $550,000 had been paid for the Star. N. Y., "which apparently tries to implicate the sale of the Marion Star with the Teapot Dome scandal," with a denial, Moore said that if Vandenberg were a newspaperman, he "would edit his copy and watch facts more closely."

"If the Teapot bunch could have manipulated the sale of the Star for $550,000, which was not the price paid for it, they would have found a very good bargain," said Moore. "But they did not buy it. The controlling interest in the Star was bought by Louis H. Brush and myself as individuals, the Harding estate still holding a large stock interest in the company."

"Had Mr. Vandenberg taken the trouble to consult the probate court of Marion county and ascertain facts, he would not have made himself so utterly ridiculous."

the particular districts, with instructions that the districts call separate joint conferences of miners and operators, in which to adjust these differences. Operators almost as a unit declared they were against "referring back local conditions."

Local conditions, it was explained, have much to do with miners' pay, and if they are "referred back" for adjustment the individual districts will determine how much a miner shall receive for doing "dead work," digging slate out of his way, loading dirt and laying trucks, which is all necessary before he can reach the coal, which yields him recompense by the ton. Some localities refuse to allow pay for some "dead work," and the miners are demanding that the operators and miners get together at home in their separate districts and settle the questions.

Competitive Bids To Be Required Before City Buys

An order requiring competitive bids for city business was issued, and award of contracts for city automobiles and trucks was deferred until Friday by the purchasing committee of city council, in its first 1924 session Wednesday afternoon.

Charges of unfairness in awarding city patronage were made by John McCullough, of McCullough Brothers, and the open competition was ordered to remove any possibility of unfairness or dissatisfaction in future, it was stated.

Members of the committee were designated to investigate bids made by local and out-of-town dealers in automobiles and trucks, with a view to deciding whether the city should send its business out of town as a result of better inducements, in way of allowances for used cars, offered by Marietta and Rome dealers. Alderman J. H. Bachman is to recommend purchases for the construction department. Councilman J. A. Beall, for the police department, Councilman W. G. Cooper, for the city parks department, and Councilman C. J. Vaughan, for the health and hospitals departments. The recommendations will be voted on at the meeting Friday.

Piles

Can't Be Cured from the Outside.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are dead, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacobs' Drug Stores, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—(adv.)

Why Stay Fat? You Can Reduce

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome, too dangerous to face the weight down. Marmora Prescription Tablets overcome all these difficulties. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting, no exercise and have the added advantage of cheapness. A box is sold at one dollar by all druggists the world over, and the price direct to the Marmora Co., 4012 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this, you have no excuse for being fat, but can reduce steadily and easily without going through long stages of famine, exercise and starvation diet or four of bad effects. (adv.)

Why Druggists Recommend Swamp-Root

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper. (adv.)

CURED HIS RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors only hope of cure was an operation. Trusting to my good luck, I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I do a day's work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no fast time, no trouble. I have nothing to tell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Mr. M. Pullen, Carpenter, 2034 Macaulay Avenue, Manhattan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—they may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worst danger of an operation. (adv.)

Leading civic organizations, educational institutions and big business establishments practically require his entire time, it is stated.

Harvey Made Vice President Of Georgia Trust Company

GIRLS' ATTEMPT AT JAIL DELIVERY IS FRUSTRATED

The attempt of a half dozen or more girls to escape from the matron's ward at the police station was frustrated Tuesday night when police matrons discovered a window which had been broken, and a ladder made of bedclothes, which it is thought had been made by girls preparatory for use in sliding from the window.

Miss Grace Foster, 29, who was held on charges of stealing a fur neckpiece in Rockville, Maryland, is thought to have been the leader in the attempted escape.

First indication of trouble came Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Mamie Heard and Mrs. Ruth Bullard, matrons, discovered that bedclothes were missing and that the window had been broken.

Coffee Is Booze, Declares Maxim, May Raid Cafes

New York, February 13.—Hudson Maxim, scientist and inventor, believes tea and coffee to be intoxicants within the meaning of the Volstead act and threatens to bring suit to close cafes in which these beverages are served unless the enforcement authorities do something about it.

He told the Free Thinkers' society last night that he first would ask the federal authorities to act against the sellers of tea and coffee. Should they fail to do so, he said he would begin an action such as he would have a right to do against a saloon which the authorities would not raid and close.

"I have consulted many of the most eminent legal authorities in the country," he said, "and I speak with their authority when I tell you that if all manner of alcoholic liquors were served at this dinner, the provisions of the eighteenth amendment would not be violated or disrespected one whit more than it is violated here tonight in serving us coffee."

Royal Couple Find Gotham Poor Place For Honeymooning

New York, February 13.—A prince and his princess are finding New York a difficult place in which to spend their honeymoon with any degree of privacy.

Prince Erik, of Denmark, and his bride, the former Miss Lois Booth, Canadian heiress, arrived here from Ottawa last night and attempted to steal quietly to a hotel. The princess, looking small in a great fur coat, had to take two steps to the prince's one as they strode through the Grand Central terminal, intent upon an exit and a hotel.

Just as they approached an taxi and the princess was smilingly urging speed upon a lagging porter who carried the royal luggage, something happened.

"Bang!" It was flashlight, the first of a dozen. A crowd gathered. The porter got lost. The princess laughed nervously and begged the prince to run. He refused. He did increase his stride, however, and the princess fairly flew to keep up with him.

A hurried interview was given on the run. Yes, they would stay in New York a few days. No, they didn't expect to be entertained as royalty usually is entertained. They wanted peace and quiet; that was all, an opportunity for an unhurried honeymoon. They would sail for England and later proceed to Denmark.

"Oh, dear!" said the bride. "Isn't this dreadful? What's all the fuss about? We only want to be left alone."

By this time the crowd had grown and police had to clear a path to a taxicab. Then the prince and princess had to sit in the cab while an obliging porter looked up the bewildered porter.

"Good luck," shouted some one in the crowd as the taxi driver wormed his car through. The princess smiled and waved her hand.

PREP DRAWINGS COMPLETE--PETREL NINE BEGINS

Plans Ready For Griffin Tourney

BY GORDON KEITH.

The drawings of the G. I. A. A. championship basketball tournament in Griffin, February 20, 21, 22 and 23, were completed Tuesday by Coach Alexander, of Tech. Play will begin Wednesday night, will continue Thursday afternoon, Thursday night, Friday night and conclude Saturday night. The officials have not as yet been named, and the time of the games is to be regulated so as to suit the Griffin fans. They will be played on the new gymnasium floor, however, and the winner will be invited to attend the National tournament which is held in March, according to information received by President O. K. David, of the G. I. A. A.

Wednesday Night—Tech High vs. Lanier, game No. 1; G. M. C. vs. Monroe, game No. 2.

Thursday Afternoon—University vs. Winner of game No. 1, game No. 3; Riverside vs. winner of game No. 2, game No. 4.

Thursday Night—Commercial vs. Gordon, game No. 5; Boys' High vs. Griffin, game No. 6.

Friday Night—Winners of game No. 3 vs. winner of game No. 5, game No. 7; winners of game No. 4 vs. winner of game No. 6, game No. 8.

Saturday Night—Loser of game No. 7 vs. loser of game No. 8 for third place, game No. 9; winner of game No. 7 vs. winner of game No. 8 for championship, game No. 10.

This arrangement provides for ten good games of basketball between fast, representative Georgia quintets, and the winner will indeed deserve the honor and title awaiting the champ. It is a shame that Tech High and Lanier, two of the strongest, if not the strongest teams, should have to meet so early, but such are the fortunes of sport. Then, on Thursday afternoon, the contest between the Bluebirds and the Bulldogs, the two teams will be eliminated when the Bluebirds meet the winner of this hectic struggle. The survivor of this battle will meet the winner of the Commercial, provided she comes through the Gordon game. And so, out of three entrants, it is beyond the realm of possibility for more than one of them to still be in the fight by the end of play Thursday night. The remaining five is none other than state champion Lanier, Boys' High. This team will meet an entirely different string of opposition, and if she defeats Griffin in the opening round, goes into the semi-finals against either G. M. C. or Monroe on Riverside Friday.

Press League Is Warming Up

The Constitution's Baseball team will hold its initial practice just as soon as the weather permits, and from all indications it will be March 1 before the nine representing the paper will trot out on some field to get into shape for the season grind. There will be plenty of action when the men report to Manager Miller for practice, as Miller will put his men through a hard practice until the Press League opens for the 1924 season.

Many old men are back to claim their positions, but there are many new ones who will put up a fight for regular berths on the team. Other teams in the Press League include the Atlanta Georgian and the Georgia Railway Power transportation team. The sixth team to enter the league will be composed of players representing the union job printing shops of Atlanta and will be called the Commercial Printers.

RICKARD TELLS HOW HE WON AND LOST ON PRIZE FIGHTS

BY TEX RICKARD

Since taking over Madison Square Garden and turning it into sort of a boxing mecca, I have promoted, in round numbers, 130 fights. To see those fights the boxing fans have paid into the box office $8,769,887.19. This, I am told, is far in excess of anything any one man has ever attempted in sport. That, however, was not as much profit to me as you might think. I simply have handled an enormous amount of money.

For those 130 fights I paid in federal and state taxes $1,312,659.22. In addition to the federal tax on amusements, you know, the state of New York levies a tax on boxing as it does on theaters and movie shows. It does not tax baseball and football.

The tax on boxing was a part of the Wall, r law when it was adopted to legalize boxing. Among other things, a boxing commission has to be supported. The commission, though, serves without salary.

Out of these fights I have paid the boxers a little more than $4,000,000. Apparently that would leave a profit of two or three million dollars, but that is not true. The casual spectator does not stop to consider the enormous expenses incurred in operating a place like the Garden. In the first place we have to sacrifice interest on the money invested before we start. By merely leaving it in a bank we could get 4 per cent without risk. To make it as simple as possible, let me explain that, in round numbers, it costs $1,500 a day to operate the Garden. That expense goes right on whether we have any fights or not. We use it for boxing about six or seven months only. So you can see that I must make a profit of at least $10,000 a week out of the attractions to prevent a loss. And we must keep in a supply of attractions. That is not so easy.

Between times we run in such things as the six-day bicycle race, the rodeo, the circus and many varieties of shows. It is hard pulling.

It's hard to sign 'em up. Our main support, of course, is boxing. Right now the situation looks gloomy. Our greatest difficulty is in getting the champions to fight.

There are many who seem to believe that a fighter cares more about money than he does about his title. I only wish that were true. As a matter of fact the boys cherish those titles as if they are quite willing to sit back in some satisfaction. Many of them would rather lose money than risk the loss of their titles.

As one of the sporting writers expressed it a few weeks ago, they are like the old negro who was met on the streets of Louisville by a white man friend.

"Say, Sam, want to make a quarter the white man suggested."

"No, sir, not me," replied the darkie. "I already got a quarter."

"Through my efforts at staging fights for them I have made some of these boys as rich as some of the smaller bankers. They are quite content to sit back with what they've got and take it easy. They don't want to risk these titles."

But to get back to the finances of the Garden for a moment. A fair estimate of what fighters cost is 50 per cent. That is, the fighters will receive about 50 per cent of the gate receipts. Out of the remaining 50 I must pay all the expenses of attendants, rent, advertising and the general machinery. This also takes in the cost of the preliminary bouts and the federal and state taxes. Even if 50 per cent is left, other expenses eat up most of it.

The old thing about the present situation is that money no longer serves as a lure. Occasionally criticism and circumstances smoke a champion out and make him defend his title but even then it is usually necessary for the contender to sacrifice practically all of his claim to a share of the gate receipts.

Harry Greb, for instance, had to do that to win the middleweight championship from Johnny Wilson. Mickey Walker was in a similar fix when he defeated Jack Britton.

Looking the field over it seems that Jack Dempsey is the only one at whose title anybody can have a shot. It takes a lot of money for that.

Unless the champions show more desire to defend their titles the boxing game is sure to take a bad slump. It may be that our method of making money for the boxers has spoiled them.

Everybody wants to see a champion in the ring. They are willing to look at others but unless the biggest men in a sport show themselves often the interest is bound to dwindle. After all it is the opportunity of seeing a world's championship change hands that draws people into the Garden or any other place.

December a young man, a writing friend of mine, dropped in to see me with the request that I give him the recipe for making a million dollars. He assumed that I had made a million. In a half joking way, and half serious, too, I told him:

"Making a million is easy if you sit down and think things out right. Folks want amusement, and they've got the money to pay for it. They love fighting. Give them the right kind of fights and they will pay high for them."

Of course, the catch is that few people can think things out right, and sometimes it is impossible to furnish the right kind of fights. At my friend's request I then wrote down the following recipe, which I really think would work in any kind of business:

Tex's Rules for Success.

"1. You have to learn the psychology of folks. You must give them their entertainment their way, not yours."

"2. You have to spend money to make money, though you may not always have it to spend. But you can establish credit. Folks can get credit on big ideas—if the ideas are honest and the man is honest."

"3. When you put one thing across big the rest is easy—if you don't let down in the class of stuff you give the public."

"4. You have to be something of a mind reader, a visionary, but not a dreamer. You have to put your stuff in a form that makes it stick."

"5. If you see you are going to lose you have to take your loss, that's all. You must never waver. Many a show has been saved by calling the show off. That would have made the public peevish and in the end I would have lost a dozen times as much in future confidence as on that one venture."

"6. There is no monopoly on brains in the world. Everyone with good common sense, honesty, a will to go through with things, imagination, a sense of humor and the ability to make a rough turn with a smile, can make a lot of money. Maybe not a million. That's a lot of money. But making a million or just making money is all the same."

Louise a big part in any venture. To my way of thinking luck about breaks even. I was never afraid of taking a chance, and as long as I was taking one I decided it was just as well to take a big one. Anyway, I always made up my mind I'd make good, and that if I didn't I'd continue to the only one I lose. The thing that hurts most is to have others lose money that they have risked on your efforts. It never hurt me much to lose my own money. That's why I like to take my big chance alone.

Both Boys Agree To Lure Which Promoters Dangle; Will Appear on March 7

A momentary lull in the telegraphic valentine and flower business Wednesday night, wherein and whereupon a telegram was received in Atlanta from Jeff Smith, permits us the pleasure of announcing ladies and gentlemen, the next bout of the season—between the aforementioned Jeff Smith and previously mentioned Joe Lohman.

Jeff Smith has agreed to the terms submitted; Joe Lohman has agreed to the terms submitted; Jeff has been wired to come ahead because Joe is coming; Joe has been wired not to fail because Jeff will be present.

And there you are—Atlanta will not have to wait patiently for long before viewing some first-class fighters in what, by all odds, should be a first-class scrap. Joe Lohman, through his more or less distant encounter with Bob Roper, and otherwise have activities, is respected locally; Jeff Smith was once expected to fight here, but didn't—and the town still cherishes a desire to view his brand of knuckle-dusting.

"This well, as well, so unless something unforeseen and most calamitous arises to smite those demon promoters, Eric Nelson and Holt Gewinner, flying the colors of the Southern Athletic club—there'll be big doings down Glimmer street before very long."

Viewed from where we are sitting, and carefully analyzed between bites at a cup of coffee and deep draughts of a bologna sandwich (tell 'em to leave off the potato salad!) it looks like a powerful fine card. The preliminaries, to be sure, will be arranged later. That is, all the preliminaries except Irish Benny Kline, He's perpetually arranged. Irish is undoubtedly the most preliminary boy

with Bob Roper, and otherwise have

COULD NOT WALK BECAUSE OF PAIN

Bad Case of Woman's Illness Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo., "I had such a bad case of female trouble that I could not walk because of the pains from inflammation. My back was all done up. I could hardly bend, could not go up stairs because of weakness, and no one could possibly be in worse shape than I was. I have taken 12 bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am a strong woman now and can work down any of my neighbors. They wonder how I can do so much work. I dare say that I have recommended your medicine to a thousand women. A little book was thrown at my door, and that is how I first learned of it."—Mrs. D. M. BEAUCHAMP, 1104 Morrison Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Some of Our Finest Corsets

Are to Be Closed Out at Half-Price And Less Because Elastics Are Bad!

No matter how good corsets are, the elastics sometimes become hardened. This doesn't mean they are old or have stayed too long in stock. Many times the weather is responsible. Sometimes being near a radiator ruins the rubber. Anyway, we have weeded out these corsets irrespective of whether they are new models or models of a season back and have grouped them at three low prices. Some have inserts of elastic, some are banded with elastic, others have no elastic about them excepting the hose supporters. They're all good styles, medium or low bust, and if you want a really fine corset this is your opportunity.

Lot No. 1—Values to $18.00

Madame Lyras—our highest grade corsets—made of fine silk brocades and exquisitely trimmed in satin, ribbon and lace. Several models, sizes 26 to 30.

Any drug-gist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special, highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for 2½ ounces of Pinex with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; and had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." "Mother's Friend" is the great remedy for mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and measure up to Braxfield's Regulation Co., B&O, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere—(Ind.)

Atlantans Visit Palm Beach, Fla.

Palm Beach, Fla., February 13.—An interesting feature of the day yesterday at the Poinciana was the arrival of a number of old time patrons of the hotel from Atlanta, Ga., who gather here every year for a month early in February and who have a constant round of entertaining, in which Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Mitchell of the Cottage colony also join. Included in these arrivals were the former Governor John M. Slaton and Mrs. Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Grant, John M. Slater, Jr., John M. Ballenger, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Johnson, Mrs. H. L. English, all of Atlanta. Other Atlanta people will come later on to join this pleasant colony from the southern metropolis. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson, who are at the Poinciana, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Mitchell whose guest rooms at their South Ocean Boulevard cottage are full. Also visiting Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell are Mr. and Mrs. Troupe Howard, of Atlanta, and London, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell entertained at dinner on Monday night at the Beach club for a number of these Atlanta people, their guests including Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Grant, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Slaton, and Mr. and Mrs. Troupe Howard. Yesterday they all gathered at Mrs. Mitchell's at the luncheon hour and in the afternoon while the ladies played bridge Messrs. Mitchell, Grant, Johnson and Mr. Ballenger went to the Palm Beach Country club to play golf. Mr. Mitchell, who has paid several visits to Palm Beach this winter, is now here to spend the remainder of the season and their home will be the scene of much entertaining.

Hostesses at Lovely Party.

Mrs. Monte J. Hickok and Mrs. G. C. Graham entertained at a large bridge party at the Officers club on Wednesday afternoon.

The club was most beautifully decorated with painted plants and cut flowers, the Valentine color scheme being carried out in every detail. The tea table had for its covering a handsome Canton linen cover with a silver bowl filled with red carnations and white narcissi, the candles being red and white hearts.

The guest list included more than one hundred friends. After the game the lovely prizes were awarded, the top prize being a handsome hand-wrought brass nut bowl complete with the cracker, the second being a hand-painted candy plate, and the consolation being a case of Congress playing cards.

Love and sentiment rule the world today! A Cupid will dance his merry little way all over Atlanta delivering the lovely gifts for St. Valentine's day, ordered by the 20th century lover, to express affection for his adored one.

To many he will give candy, to others books and flowers, while others will receive rare perfume. The singing telegram and telephone wires will carry sweet messages to those far distant.

Cupid is the same. Cupid is the same today as he was nine thousand years ago. He is just as busy with his bow and arrow shooting love darts into hearts, only he has added a bit to his technique.

Love is still blind, however, and all the followers of Cupid are expected to lose their heads.

Perhaps midday will be thrilled when she receives the alluring heart-shaped box holding a corsage of sweetheart roses and Parma violets, bordered with an exquisite lace paper frill.

On the card that goes with it is "Lots of love with the little bunch, the big bunch will follow tonight." Red ribbons decorate the box, and there are two pretty heart-shaped pins to adjust the corsage.

A very charming bachelor scheme to win an adorable little hobbled haired lady with the most gorgeous corsage of "Mildred" red roses. It nestles deep down in an extensive red container resting on a fragile lace paper frill—a necessary part of every Valentine these days.

Violets, the Valentine flower for ages, have an intriguing fascination. A single pink rose, surrounded with violets and bordered with lilacs of the valley, tucked into a dainty lace holder, forms the ultra-modern bouquet which an Atlanta belle will carry to the Valentine ball at the Driving club tonight. A corsage of engagement is to be announced pretty soon, for the wedding will take place in early June.

When a Man Sends Heather.

When a man sends white heather to his sweetheart it has particular significance. It really means a proposal. If she keeps his love offering, she will surely marry the sender.

Another Atlanta bachelor whose heart's delight is now in California, ordered Cupid to send by parcel post a four-ounce bottle of her favorite perfume.

Candy for Valentine.

The man of today often prefers candy to offer the divinity at whose shrine he worships.

The most gorgeous red-satin chocolate-filled heart-shaped box he found is addressed to an attractive debutante. It is so elaborately trimmed with ribbons, and so beautifully hand-painted in flowers that it will cause quite a sensation as Cupid speeds it along. Of course, he will have lots of other boxes filled with candy, too, and all addressed to pretty maidens.

The newlows, and there are lots of them this year, will send Valentines. An automobile is marked with her own initials for one charming young matron, and a diamond bar pin goes to another.

The school children will find their merriment in the school room postoffice. Romance and amusement will be furnished through lace-trimmed and comic Valentines sent anonymously.

The ancient Romans may be safely accredited with originating the rite of keeping this day set apart for lovers. Their celebration, honored Juno, daughter of Saturn, goddess of marriages, and Pan, son of Mercury, god of shepherds and farmers, and occurred in the second month of the year, February.

Many of Atlanta's finest artists appear on the program which includes recitations by Miss Dorothy Hinman; a dance by Miss Bettie King; readings by Miss Susan Falligant; songs by Mrs. E. J. Husted; piano selections by Miss Ruth Hinman.

Mothers!

Give the children a piece of WRIGLEY'S after every meal. They all like something sweet after eating. WRIGLEY'S has the sugar to satisfy this craving and the chewing of the gum will help digestion, clear their teeth of food particles and act as a pleasant, antiseptic cleanser of mouth and throat. You would "give almost anything" if the children would keep their teeth clean. Why not reward them with

WRIGLEY'S after every meal

and have the very reward itself do the work! Try it for a month and observe results. Three cents per day per child will pay the bill and make them happy!

SEALED IN ITS PURITY PACKAGE!

The Great Moment

BY ELINOR GLYN

She would not go! Whom beside Sadie did she know in America? Sadie would probably be prejudiced. . . Lady Crombie, of course! who had always been such a kind friend! As soon as the local formalities were over, and she could leave Nevada, she would go to Lady Crombie at Washington. She would write at once when she got to Gold Stamp, and tell her of the injustice of every one concerned. Underneath that was the passionate ache for Bayard, suppressed by her hurt feelings, which encouraged the doubts and fears of what his conduct had been in the shack—would she ever know what happened?

Nothing of interest occurred during Nadine's wait in Gold Stamp—except the hardening of her character.

She learned from Blenkie that her father had cast her off! She burnt with indignation. What had she done?

When Miss Blenkenop became aware that Nadine had been totally unconscious of everything that had occurred, the whole sympathy of the hard woman went out to her. Blenkie believed in justice, but at the same time a fierce resentment arose in her breast against Mr. Delaval. She had no high opinion of men in the abstract, and you never could tell how foreigners would act! But at least he had done the only decent thing he could under the circumstances, in obtaining the annulment.

Blenkie's unobtrusive contempt of the young American had its effect in keeping up Nadine's anger against him. There were moments when the gipsy part of her nature could have killed him—and then when she was alone at night she would lie and shake with dry sobs, because she knew that she loved him more than ever!

No news came to them about him except that there had been an awful row at Rocker's Point (account in the local paper) and that any trifle I had occurred, quelled by the cool courage of the head mining engineer of the Gold Stamp Mining corporation—Bayard Delaval. Nadine read the lines eagerly. There were long eulogies upon Bayard. He was dear to every mine in the country, and the reporters just "ate up" any trifle about him. How he had managed to keep the spic-tit-bit of his marriage and the annulment of it out of the papers, only his friends the sheriff and the justice of the peace knew!

Nadine kept to her room during most of her stay—and indeed was in bed for a whole week recovering on her arrival.

Sir Edward had gone straight to Canada instead of stopping at Washington. He was too much upset even to see his old friends. Lady Crombie wrote that she would be delighted to receive Nadine, and she deplored the tragic events which had taken place. Nadine had told her nothing when she wrote, but that she had been married by mistake! So she would leave all this dull part of the poor girl's life in the mist where she would wish it to be, and only go on with her story when it becomes interesting again.

But when she left Nevada a great change had occurred in her—Blenkie thought not for the better. She was much stouter sullen. She would not stand the least authority being exercised over her. She was bitter, and raged at fate, and her beliefs seemed to have been destroyed—and no wonder!

Bayard had been too occupied for a while to feel, but when things quieted down, and he was able to return to Gold Rock, a new aspect of the affair struck him, and the first time he went out to his shack again the pain was unbearable.

He sat down in the chair by the writing table and reconstructed in his mind the whole scene. Of course he ought to have known that she was intoxicated! Then the blood began to run in his veins as the picture of how she looked with the light of passion in her blue eyes came back to him. For good or for ill he loved her more than ever. Life seemed a sickening blank ahead of him without her!

He avoided hearing news of her, though his friend Hickory Cannon came out to Gold Rock and could have told him that he had seen her at the Palace hotel.

Because of the annulment having been applied for immediately after the marriage, made the case not ordinary, and the decision was given at once, and by the end of July they were free.

Then a temptation came to Bayard. Should he go after her wherever she had gone, and follow old Uncle Fredrick's advice? But his work would not let him leave the mine then, so he stayed and whined, and he cursed fate for what it had brought him.

When Nadine arrived at the Crombie house in Washington, Lady Crombie was agast at the change in her. A sullen resentful look lay always deep in the blue eyes, her timid gentle manner had altered into one of more assurance. The gipsy half had begun to show.

Sir Edward had refused to hear any discussion about her. He had provided her with ample money, and told the Crombies he did not wish to hear her name when he thanked them for receiving her. But when Lady Crombie had a full talk with Miss Blenkenop the night she and Nadine arrived, she said to her husband, when that Sir Edward ought to know the truth.

"It appears that Nadine was totally unconscious of the entire affair until she woke up the day after she was married! So how could anything be her fault, poor child!"

"The man is a scoundrel then to have taken advantage of her," Lady Crombie remarked laconically, "and it is a good thing it is all over, and there has not been a great scandal about it."

"Yes, but," Lady Crombie protested, "that does not remove the injustice to Nadine in her father's behavior."

have a little house round the corner that I'd love to show you. I went to Europe this spring to choose pictures for it, but the prettiest picture I saw I did not catch sight of until I was crossing the gangplank of Southampton."

The rest of the dance continued with remarks of the same kind, each one becoming more bold in its expression of admiration.

Nadine had never had anyone to admire her, except Bayard, and she had the accessible vanity of primitive natures. And with all her training, probably Mr. Hopper did not appear as impossibly vulgar to her as he would to a pure-bred English woman.

The gipsy half of her responded to the obviousness of his flattery. The other men were introduced to her— "charming boys," the hostess called them. This amused Nadine. Why were all males in America called "boys"? But she liked them extremely. They were all so gay and irresponsible. She danced the entire time, and Mr. Hopper took care that he came in for his share of favor.

Of course it had been whispered round that Nadine had been the heroine of some wild story out west! But no one knew exactly what it was—only it added to the interest felt in her.

To avoid the dull end of the ordinary, and to get as near the eccentric as possible, was the aim of this younger set of society.

Lady Crombie had not known what the party was going to be like, and had taken Nadine there on the invitation of a friend belonging to the diplomatic corps.

She saw in a moment that this was not the circle she would have wished

Nadine to consort with, but it was too late now, as she would see that they delighted her.

"I have so enjoyed myself, dear Lady Crombie," Nadine told her as they said good night. "I know I shall love this place and these delightful people!" And her little face was a radiant flower.

"They seem to have planned lovely things for me to do in days ahead—it is all divine!"

Lady Crombie was too wise to say anything then, but she felt annoyed with herself; it was a pity to have given Nadine a taste for the wrong sort of companions.

And as the days went on they seemed to surround her and draw her into their vortex.

She was out morning, noon, and night. For a week the newness of everything, and the gratification of her longing for fun and life, seemed happiness; but with all her primitiveness Nadine was not really a frivolous being, and there grew again the ache of dissatisfaction. She bravely tried to banish all thoughts of Bayard whenever they came to her, but she was not always successful, and there were moments when a wild feeling swamped her, and made her feel that she must break away and go and find him.

Meanwhile, Mr. Hopper had made up his mind.

Miss Nadine Pelham, daughter of Sir Edward Pelham, baronet of Somersetshire, England, should be his wife! That there had been some scandal about west did not matter to him! Every one had scandals about them nowadays! He did not prize the modest violet—he would prefer what he intended to possess to be something who would attract interest and attention!

At all the parties which Nadine attended—the rides and the picnics—Howard B. Hopper managed to be in her train, although he seldom got a chance to be alone with her. He sent her flowers and candies—and there was no doubt of his great admiration. Lady Crombie had given Nadine a little sitting room for herself, leading out of her bedroom, and it was generally full of Mr. Hopper's American beauty roses. A sort of riotous spirit seemed to be developing in the girl, and Lady Crombie felt greatly distressed.

Lord Crombie was studying their little guest with his wise old eyes.

"She is really very unhappy, Viola," he said to his wife. "Do you suppose she cared deeply for that fellow out at the mine? I wish you would get the truth out of her, and perhaps we could help in some way. The whole thing is a great mystery. If you remember, old Ned merely said this marriage took place as the suite of a kind of riding picnic to the mine—and he was too angry to talk about it. Then Nadine writes that she has been married by mistake—and the affair is to be annulled immediately; and Miss Blenkenop tells you that she was bitten by a rattlesnake, and was completely unconscious from the effects of the whiskey she had to take, and knew nothing about it! 'Pon my soul, the whole thing is incredible as a penny novelette! What is the truth of it all?"

"Yes, I wish I knew. Since it was my fault originally for taking her to the Huskins' party, it will be very hard to prevent her now from sticking to that clan, and they are certainly not the friends Ned would approve of for her," and Lady Crombie sighed.
